They had taken a wrong turn hiking and ended up out on a ledge with no visible way to safely get down. LCFD Technical Team was on scene before NM SAR teams and the decision was made to use Modoc Mine Road as the closest entry point to the subject's location, and, due to medical concern for searchers and subjects, UTV's were employed to hasten response and to carry in water and medical equipment. Subjects were located with a drone and then the drone pilot worked with a local expert and they were able to use the drone to guide rescue teams directly to the subjects, leading them through some tricky spots on the trail. Once teams were with the subjects they were able to lower them safely to the trail down below they then hiked the subjects the remainder of the way out to the utvs then they were transported the rest of the way into ICB. Subject called 911. Call was lost and unable to re-establish communication initially. 911 call provided cell phone coordinates. Resources were called for mission.
